

Write Your Own Dialogue

You and another learner will write your own dialogue about going to a job interview. Use as many prepositions of time, place, movement and location as possible. Your dialogue must have at least six lines. For an example, look at the dialogue on the Practice with Prepositions #4 worksheet. Here is some information to get you started:

You and your friend are talking about your job interview tomorrow. Where will the interview be? What time is your appointment? How will you get to your interview? What kind of job is it? Add more information if you wish.

Write your dialogue in the space below. The first two lines are done for you:

You: Hi, _____. How's it going?

Friend: All right. I'm just thinking about the job interview I have tomorrow.
